FYI - I walked the site with Dave Dinkuhn earlier today. We counted 30 barrels - most aren't in terrible shape, but there are 5 that have been sitting in dirt and at least two have rotted through – the bottoms of all 5 are likely about gone. We also had a discussion with Trip McConkey who seemed eager to help with the disposal. Dave is characterizing the barrels and will start coordinating with Cascade Nat'l Gas (I believe) to get rid of them. More to come.
